THE CAREER CONVERSATION

Are you or someone you know struggling with having that career conversation? Unsure how to address this essential topic with a family member or friend? Would you like some tools, tips, and tricks to have the career conversation without an argument? If you answered yes to any of these questions then LBC has a solution for you.

First in a series of two free presentations offered by the LBC Counseling and Social Work Department faculty, The Career Conversation will be held from 9–11 AM on October 7. Dr. Denise Ebersole is an experienced school counselor who specializes in motivating young people (ages 15 to 25) to embrace the career exploration process. If you are a parent, pastor, youth pastor, or friend of a 15 to 25 year old who could use some career guidance, you will not want to miss this free event. Light refreshments will be provided; Register by Friday, October 2 via the link below.

THE ROLE OF PSYCHOTHERAPY IN LIGHT OF A FOUNDATIONALLY CHRISTIAN VIEW OF PERSONS

Living in fallen world affects every aspect of who we are and secular psychology has gone to great lengths for over a century in an attempt to relieve us of pain and suffering. Sadly, we see two troubling dynamics facing those who profess faith in Christ: 1) Stigma [because of those who claim that our emotional difficulties are simply the results of sin]; and 2) Self-Importance [due to misguided counselors – Christian and non-Christian – who promote self over God].

In light of the critical need for biblically-sound professional psychotherapeutic support for followers of Christ suffering with mental illness and/or relational difficulties, LBC Counseling and Social Work Department faculty, are offering a free seminar to address this very important topic. From 9–11 AM on Nov. 16 on the 4th floor of the Teague Learning Commons (TLC) Dr. Ryan Kuehner and Dr. Freeman Chakara will lead this relevant and timely seminal discussion. This seminar is relevant for all persons aged 12 and up. Light refreshments will be provided. Register by Nov. 11 via the link below.
